5. Summary/Purpose: This legislation proposes to amend and reenact §§ 9.1-101, 9.1-102, 9.1-110, 9.1-184, 15.2-1737, and 19.2-13 of the Code of Virginia, and to add a section numbered 22.1-280.2:1. This bill defines a school resource officer as a trained, certified law enforcement officer hired by a local law enforcement agency to provide law enforcement and security services to Virginia public elementary and secondary schools and as a school security officer as an individual who is employed by the local school board for the singular purpose of maintaining order and discipline, preventing crime, investigating violations of school board policies, and detaining and apprehending persons violating the law or school board policies on school property or at school-sponsored events and who is responsible solely for ensuring the safety, security, and welfare of all students, faculty, staff, and visitors in the assigned school. The measure also directs the Department of Criminal Justice Services, in consultation with the Department of Education and the Virginia State Crime Commission, to establish compulsory minimum standards for employment and job entry and in-service training curricula and certification requirements for school security officers; the training and certification will be administered by the Virginia Center for School Safety. School security officers are precluded from appointment as conservators of the peace and as special police officers. A second enactment clause provides that the training and employment standards will be applicable to persons employed as school security officers on and after September 15, 2003.

7. Budget amendment necessary: No.

8. Fiscal implications: The legislation directs the Department of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) to develop, in conjunction with the Department of Education and the Virginia State Crime Commission, the compulsory minimum standards for employment, in-service training and certification requirements for school security officers and charges the Virginia Center for School Safety with administering the application of those standards. The department advises that it will require approximately $300,000 and 2 FTE to meet the requirements of the legislation, as the Virginia Center for School Safety has been largely unfunded since its inception.

The General Assembly provided DCJS three FTE and the authority to use an additional $300,000 from the existing appropriation for the School Resource Officer Incentive Grants Fund to support all of the activities of the Center. It appears that the Center will be able to issue fewer grants to localities, as it will have $300,000 less in the Fund to award.

The Department of Education advises that while the legislation calls for the development of standards, it states that local school boards may hire school security officers and school resource officers but does not compel them to, therefore there is no fiscal impact.

9. Specific agency or political subdivisions affected: Department of Education, Criminal Justice Services, Virginia Crime Commission and local school systems.

10. Technical amendment necessary: No.

11. Other comments: This bill is identical to SB295.
