

Impact Analysis on Proposed Legislation

Virginia Criminal Sentencing Commission

Senate Bill No. 1163 Amendment in the Nature of a Substitute (Patron Prior to Substitute – Stolle)

Date Submitted: 1/31/2005

LD #: 05-3846820

Topic: Redefinition, modernization and streamlining of computer laws

Proposed Change:

The proposal amends §§ 18.2-152.2, 18.2-152.3, 18.2-152.4 through 18.2-152.7, 18.2-152.8, 18.2-152.12 and 19.2-8, adds §§ 18-152.5:1 19.2-249.2, and repeals §§ 18-152.9 and 18.2-152.10 to redefine, modernize and streamline the laws governing computer crimes. In § 18.2-152.2, the definition of “computer” has changed, as has “property” as it relates to computer services.

The more substantive changes made by the proposal are:

Statute	Current	Proposed
§ 18.2-152.4 (Computer trespass)	Prohibits unauthorized use to use a computer in several ways. Penalty: a) damage less than $2,500 and non-malicious - Class 1 misdemeanor b) damage of $2,500 or more, or damage was result of malicious act - Class 6 felony	Prohibits unauthorized use with malicious intent to use a computer in several ways. Penalty: a) damage less than $1,000 and non-malicious - Class 1 misdemeanor b) damage of $1,000 or more - Class 6 felony
§ 18.2-152.5 (Computer invasion of privacy)	Prohibits use of computer to intentionally examine employment, salary, credit, or any other financial or personal information.  Penalty: Class 1 misdemeanor	Prohibits use of computer to intentionally examine financial or other “identifying information” as defined by § 18.2-186.3(C). Penalty: a) Class 1 misdemeanor for 1 st violation b) Class 6 felony for subsequent violation c) Class 6 felony if information is sold or distributed to another d) Class 6 felony if information is used in commission of a crime
§ 19.2-8 (Limiting prosecution)	Currently in § 18.2-152.9	Moved to Title 19.2, repealing old statute
§ 19.2-249.2 (Venue)	Currently in § 18.2-152.10	Moved to Title 19.2, repealing old statute

In addition, under § 18.2-152.8, the property for crimes currently defined by §§ 18.2-95, 18.2-96 and 18.2-108 (larceny and receipt of stolen goods) are explicitly expanded by the proposal to include computers and computer networks, financial instruments, computer data, programs, and software, and computer services. While under the proposed § 18.2-152.5:1, new crimes are defined relating to the use of a computer to fraudulently gather, access, or record identifying information defined in § 18.2-186.3(C); if by anyone other than a law-enforcement officer acting in an official capacity is punishable as a Class 6 felony, and if that information is sold or distributed to another or the person uses the information in the commission of another crime, it is punishable as a Class 5 felony.

Analysis:

According to the fiscal year (FY) 2003 and FY2004 Local Inmate Data System (LIDS) data, 10 persons held pre- post-trial in jail were convicted of misdemeanor crimes affected by the proposal. All were sentenced to a local-responsible (jail) term with a median sentence of 30 days. None were convicted under sections of the Code that will be significantly affected by the proposal.

In the same two-year period, one person held in jail was convicted of § 18.2-152.3(3) involving the use of a computer to embezzle $200 or more. That person was sentenced to six months in jail.

Impact of Proposed Legislation:

While several aspects of the proposed legislation are not expected to affect correctional bed space, there are elements of the proposal that may increase the bed space needs of the Commonwealth. Many of the proposed changes are not expected to affect either the number of prosecutions or judicial sentencing practices; for these elements, no impact on correctional bed space is anticipated. The proposal, however, adds felony penalties to § 18.2-152.5, and defines new crimes in §§ 18.2-152.5:1; the impact of these elements of the proposal cannot be determined. In addition, the proposed amendments to § 18.2-152.4 redefine those crimes by requiring malicious intent, while simultaneously lowering the threshold for felony punishment (based on damages incurred) from $2,500 to $1,000; these would have offsetting impacts on correctional bed space needs, although the magnitude cannot be determined.

If the proposed legislation is adopted, Virginia's sentencing guidelines would not cover the new felony offenses, however, any of the criminal aspects of the proposal may be used to augment the sentencing guidelines recommendation if the primary offense at sentencing is covered by the guidelines. No adjustment to the guidelines would be necessary under the proposal.

Pursuant to § 30-19.1:4, the estimated amount of the necessary appropriation cannot be determined for periods of imprisonment in state adult correctional facilities and is $0 for periods of commitment to the custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice.
