Referred to Committee on Local Government

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia:

1. That the Code of Virginia is amended by adding a section numbered 15.2-2304.1 as follows:

§ 15.2-2304.1. Affordable Dwelling Unit ordinance in Arlington County; permitting certain densities in the comprehensive plan.

A. Arlington County may provide in its comprehensive plan for the physical development within the County, adopted pursuant to § 15.2-2223, for densities of development ranging between a floor area ratio ("FAR") of 1.0 FAR and 10.0 FAR, or greater, and as such, the governing body may adopt as part of its zoning ordinance requirements for the provision of (i) on-site or off-site "Affordable Dwelling Units," as defined herein, or (ii) a cash contribution to the County's affordable housing fund, in lieu of such units, in such amounts as set out herein, as a condition of the governing body's approval of a special exception application for residential, commercial, or mixed-use projects with a density equal to or greater than 1.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre. Residential, commercial, or mixed-use projects with a density less than 1.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre, shall be exempt from the requirements of this section and the County's zoning ordinance adopted pursuant to this section. The County's zoning ordinance requirements shall provide as follows:

1. Upon approval of a special exception application approving a residential, commercial, or mixed-use project with a density equal to or greater than 1.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre, the applicant shall provide on-site Affordable Dwelling Units as part of the project the total gross square footage of which units shall be five percent of the amount of the gross floor area of the project that exceeds 1.0 FAR or an equivalent density based on units per acre. For purposes of this section, "applicant" shall mean the person or entity submitting a special exception application for approval of a residential, commercial or mixed use project in Arlington County and shall include the successors or assigns of the applicant.

2. As an alternative, upon approval of a special exception application approving a residential, commercial, or mixed-use project with a density equal to or greater than 1.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre, the applicant may elect to provide any one of the following:

a. Affordable Dwelling Units shall be provided off-site at a location within one-half mile of any Metrorail Station for projects within a Metro Station Area as defined in the County's comprehensive plan, or within one-half mile of the residential, commercial, or mixed-use project for projects not within a Metro Station Area, as provided in the County's zoning ordinance, the total gross square footage of which units shall be 7.5% of the amount of the gross floor area of the project that is over 1.0 FAR or an equivalent density based on units per acre, or

b. Affordable Dwelling Units shall be provided off-site at any other locations in the County other than those provided in the County's zoning ordinance in accordance with subdivision a, the total gross square footage of which units shall be 10% of the amount of the gross floor area of the project that is over 1.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre, or

c. A cash contribution to the County's affordable housing fund, which contribution shall be calculated as follows for each of the below-described density tiers:

(1) One and one-half dollars per square foot of gross floor area for the first tier of density between zero and 1.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre.

(2) Four dollars per square foot of gross floor area for the tier of density in residential projects between 1.0 FAR and 3.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre, and four dollars per square foot of gross floor area for the tier of density in commercial projects above 1.0 FAR.

(3) Eight dollars per square foot of gross floor area for the tier of density in residential projects above 3.0 FAR, or an equivalent density based on units per acre.

(4) For mixed-use projects, cash contributions shall be calculated by applying the proportionate amount of commercial and residential gross floor area to each tier.

The cash contribution shall be indexed to the Consumer Price Index for Housing in the

59 Washington-Baltimore MSA as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and shall be adjusted
60 annually based upon the January changes to such index for that year.

61 3. The applicant shall provide the County Manager or his designee, prior to the issuance of the first 62 certificate of occupancy for the residential, commercial, or mixed-use project, a written plan of how the 63 applicant proposes to address the provision of Affordable Dwelling Units or cash contribution as 64 provided in this section and the provisions of the zoning ordinance adopted pursuant to this section. The 65 County Manager or his designee shall approve or disapprove the applicant's plan in writing within 30
66 days of receipt of the written proposal from the applicant. If the County Manager or his designee 67 disapproves of the applicant's plan, specific reasons for such disapproval shall be provided.

68 4. An applicant may submit a written plan to address the provision of Affordable Dwelling Units or 69 cash contribution as provided in this section and the provisions of the zoning ordinance adopted
70 pursuant to this section that deviate from the requirements of this section and the ordinance to be 71 considered by the governing body or its designee. Any such deviations may be approved in accordance 72 with the procedures established in the County's zoning ordinance, which procedures shall include a
73 provision for an appeal to the governing body of any administrative decision relative to the deviations 74 requested by the applicant.

75 5. The ordinance adopted by the County pursuant to this section may provide that, in the discretion 76 of the governing body and with the agreement of the applicant, at the time of consideration of the 77 special exception application, the above requirements may be totally or partially substituted for other 78 compelling public priorities established in plans, studies, policies, or other documents of the County.

79 6. Applications for a special exception approval of a residential, commercial, or mixed-use project
80 that results in the demolition and rebuilding of an existing project shall be subject to the requirements
81 of this section and the zoning ordinance adopted pursuant to this section at the time of redevelopment;
82 however, only density that is replaced or rebuilt and any increased density shall be subject to the 83 requirements. This section and the County's zoning ordinance adopted pursuant to this section shall not 84 apply to rehabilitation or renovation of existing residential, commercial, or mixed-use projects.

85 7. For purposes of this section "Affordable Dwelling Unit" means units committed for a 30-year term 86 as affordable to households with incomes at 60% of the area median income.

87 B. This section shall apply to an application for a special exception approval for a residential,
88 commercial, or mixed-use project with a density provided for by the County's comprehensive plan
89 designation for the property that is the subject matter of the application. This section shall further apply
90 to such an application that requires rezoning of the property that is the subject matter of the application
91 to permit a use provided for by the County's comprehensive plan designation for the subject property.

92 C. The ordinance adopted by the County pursuant to this section may provide that an application for 93 approval of a special exception for a residential, commercial, or mixed-use project that requests an 94 increase in density that exceeds the density provided for by the County's comprehensive plan designation
95 for the property that is the subject matter of the application, or such an application that also requests to 96 amend the County's comprehensive plan designation for the subject property to a higher density
97 designation, shall be subject to an affordable housing requirement in addition to the requirements of this 98 section and the zoning ordinance adopted pursuant to this section.

99 D. An ordinance adopted by the County pursuant to this section may provide that applications for a 100 special exception approval for residential, commercial, or mixed-use projects that result in the 101 elimination of existing units affordable to households with incomes below the area median income 102 address replacement of the eliminated units as a condition of the governing body's approval of the 103 special exception application.

104 E. With the exception of the authority under § 15.2-2304, this section establishes the legislative 105 authority for Arlington County to obtain Affordable Dwelling Units in exchange for the approval of a
106 special exception application for a residential, commercial, or mixed-use project in the County, and a
107 special exception may not be used in combination with any other provision of law in Chapter 22 of Title
108 15.2 to obtain Affordable Dwelling Units from an applicant. Nothing in this section shall be construed 109 to repeal Arlington County's authority under any other provision of law.
