8. Fiscal Implications: This bill increases the administrative and regulatory responsibilities of the Department of Professional and Occupational Regulation (DPOR) by creating responsibility for implementing and administering a licensing requirement for mold inspection and remediation. The licensing program would be added to the Board for Asbestos, Lead, and Home Inspectors. The department estimates that approximately 500-1,000 individuals would be licensed through this program.

Board regulations will be revised to reflect the new requirements, requiring 8 additional board meetings in FY 2010 at a cost of $15,522. The board is also expected to meet an additional 4 times annually in future years as a result of this program, at a cost of $7,761.

Postage and printing costs for the new regulations will be $1,500 in FY 2010 only. The cost of court reporters for public hearings is expected to be $1,000 in FY 2010 only. The cost of examination development is expected to be $4,000 in FY 2010 only.

Total costs are projected to be $22,022 in FY 2009, and $7,761 in future years.

Revenue: In accordance with the provisions of section 54.1-113 (Callahan Act) of the Code of Virginia, licensing fees are established at rates adequate to cover a program's operating costs and a proportionate share of agency support costs.

The board's current fee for individual application and annual license renewal is $25. Assuming about 750 new licensees, revenue is expected to be about $18,750 annually, with the first license fees collected in FY 2011.

9. Specific Agency or Political Subdivisions Affected: The Department of Professional and Occupational Regulation
