129 unreasonably withhold authorization for such medically necessary absences.

130 § 51.1-1111. Successive periods of short-term disability.

131 A. A participating employee's disability which is related or due to the same cause or causes as a
132 prior disability for which short-term disability benefits were paid shall be deemed to be a continuation
133 of the prior disability if the employee returns to his position on an active employment basis for less than 134 (i) fourteen consecutive calendar days or (ii) twenty-eight 45 consecutive calendar days if the short-term
135 disability is due to a major chronic condition, as defined by the Board or its designee, requiring periodic

140 eligible to receive short-term disability benefits. Days of work arranged pursuant to vocational,
141 rehabilitation, or return-to-work programs shall not be counted in determining the duration of the period
142 of the employee's return to work.

143 B. If a participating employee returns to his position on an active employment basis for fourteen
144 45consecutive calendar days or longer, any succeeding period of disability shall constitute a new period
145 of short-term disability. However, if the cause of the participating employee's disability is a major
146 chronic condition, as defined by the Board or its designee, requiring periodic absences, and the 147 participating employee returns to his position on an active employment basis for more than twenty-eight 148 45 consecutive calendar days, any succeeding period of disability shall constitute a new period of 149 short-term disability.

150 C. The period of 45 days referred to in subsections A and B shall be consecutive calendar days that
151 the participating employee is (i) actively at work and (ii) fully released to return to work full time, full
152 duty. The Retirement System shall develop policies and procedures to administer the effects of the
153 45-day period in connection with participants who are deemed to have a major chronic condition.

158 employee returns to work for 14 or fewer consecutive calendar days during the period in which he is
159 receiving short-term disability benefits and cannot continue to work, the periods worked shall not be 160 deemed to have interrupted the short-term disability benefits period. However, if the cause of the 161 participating employee's disability is a major chronic condition, as defined by the Board or its designee,
162 the short-term disability benefits period is cumulative from the first day of the period and can be
163 interrupted by periods of active employment.

164 B. Except as provided in subsection D and § 51.1-1131, long-term disability benefits shall provide 165 income replacement in an amount equal to 60 percent of a participating employee's creditable
166 compensation.

167 C. Creditable compensation during periods an employee receives long-term disability benefits shall (i)
168 not include salary increases awarded during the period covered by long-term disability benefits and (ii)
169 be increased annually by an amount recommended by the actuary of the Virginia Sickness and Disability
170 Program and approved by the Board.

171 D. An employee's disability credits shall be used, on a day-for-day basis, to extend the period an 172 employee receives long-term disability benefits paid at 100 percent of replacement of creditable
173 compensation.

174 E. Long-term disability benefits shall be payable only during periods of (i) total disability or (ii)
175 partial disability.

182 A. A participating employee's disability which is related or due to the same cause or causes as a
183 prior disability for which supplemental short-term disability benefits were paid shall be deemed to be a
184 continuation of the prior disability if the employee (i) is eligible for benefits payable under the Act,
185 whether or not he is receiving such benefits, and (ii) returns to his position on an active employment
186 basis for less than ~~fourteen~~ 45 consecutive calendar days; ~~or twenty-eight consecutive calendar days if~~
187 ~~the short-term disability is due to a major chronic condition, as defined by the Board or its designee,~~
188 ~~requiring periodic absences. If a participating employee, after receiving short-term disability benefits,~~
189 ~~immediately returns to work for less than 45 consecutive calendar days and cannot continue to work,~~
190 ~~the days worked shall be deemed to have interrupted the short-term disability benefits period, and such~~
191 ~~days worked shall not be counted for purposes of determining the maximum period for which the~~
192 ~~participating employee is eligible to receive short-term disability benefits.~~ Days of work arranged
193 pursuant to vocational, rehabilitation, or return-to-work programs shall not be counted in determining the 194 duration of the period of the employee's return to work.

195 B. If a participating employee returns to his position on an active employment basis for ~~fourteen~~ 45
196 consecutive calendar days or longer, any succeeding period of disability shall constitute a new period of
197 short-term disability. ~~However, if the cause of the participating employee's disability is a major chronic~~
198 ~~condition, as defined by the Board or its designee, requiring periodic absences, and the participating~~
199 ~~employee returns to his position on an active employment basis for more than twenty-eight consecutive~~
200 ~~calendar days, any succeeding period of disability shall constitute a new period of short-term disability.~~

201 C. The period of 45 days referred to in subsections A and B shall be consecutive calendar days that
202 the participating employee is (i) actively at work and (ii) fully released to return to work full time, full
203 duty. The Retirement System shall develop policies and procedures to administer the effects of the
204 45-day period in connection with participants who are deemed to have a major chronic condition.

205 § 51.1-1123. Supplemental long-term disability benefit.

206 A. Supplemental long-term disability benefits for participating employees shall commence upon the 207 expiration of the maximum period for which the participating employee is eligible to receive short-term
208 disability benefits under § 51.1-1121. ~~If an employee returns to work for 14 or fewer consecutive days~~
209 ~~during the period in which he is receiving short-term disability benefits and cannot continue to work, the~~
210 ~~periods worked shall not be deemed to interrupt the short-term disability benefits period. However, if the~~
211 ~~cause of the participating employee's disability is a major chronic condition, as defined by the Board or~~
212 ~~its designee, the short-term disability benefits period is cumulative from the first day of the disability~~
213 ~~and can be interrupted by periods of active employment.~~

214 B. Except as provided in subsection D and § 51.1-1131, supplemental long-term disability benefits
215 shall provide income replacement in an amount equal to 60 percent of a participating employee's
216 creditable compensation.

217 C. Creditable compensation during periods an employee receives supplemental long-term disability
218 benefits shall (i) not include salary increases awarded during the period covered by long-term disability
219 benefits and (ii) be increased annually by an amount recommended by the program actuary and 220 approved by the Board.

222 employee receives supplemental long-term disability benefits paid at 100 percent of replacement of
223 creditable compensation.

224 E. Payments of supplemental long-term disability benefits payable under this article shall be reduced
225 by an amount equal to any benefits paid to the employee under the Act, for which the employee is

228 disability.
