WHEREAS, United States Route 1 is also known as the Richmond Highway, Jefferson Davis Highway, Cambridge Street, Washington Highway, Brook Road, Chamberlayne Avenue, Richmond-Petersburg Highway, and Boynton Plank Road; and

WHEREAS, U.S. Route 1 is one of the oldest roads in the Commonwealth, one of the longest highways in the United States of America, and stretches from Fort Kent, Maine, to Key West, Florida, and was one of the first paved highways in the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, U.S. Route 1 traverses 16 cities and counties in the Commonwealth, including the cities of Alexandria, Colonial Heights, Fredericksburg, Petersburg, and Richmond, and the counties of Arlington, Brunswick, Caroline, Chesterfield, Dinwiddie, Fairfax, Hanover, Henrico, Prince William, Spotsylvania, and Stafford; and

WHEREAS, early investment in U.S. Route 1 created some of the earliest business development and commercial corridors in the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, due to the construction of I-95 and I-85, large sections of U.S. Route 1 have not received substantial investment in the last 30 years, are in need of economic development, and are blighted; and

WHEREAS, portions of U.S. Route 1 surrounding major jurisdictions are severely congested inhibiting economic development, growth and jobs; and

WHEREAS, investments in roads and transit in the Commonwealth have been proven to generate substantial jobs, promote economic development, increase property values, and improve the tax base; and

WHEREAS, the Commonwealth has previously established special transportation districts and authorities to collect dedicated funds and focus investments along priority corridors in the Commonwealth, such as U.S. Route 58 from Norfolk to Arlington; and WHEREAS, highly congested portions of U.S. Route 1 are expected to receive significant traffic impacts due to actions taken by the federal government's Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission in 2010; and

WHEREAS, U.S. Route 1 is a national security priority in that it is a primary access route to numerous national defense facilities such as Fort Myer, the Pentagon, Fort Belvoir, Quantico Marine Base, and Fort Lee; now, therefore, be it
