"LEED" means the United States Green Building Council Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design green building rating standard.

§ 2.2-1183. Building standards; exemption.

A. Any public body entering the design phase for construction of a building greater than 7,500 gross square feet in size, or renovating such a building where the cost of renovation exceeds 75 percent of the value of the building, shall conform to LEED silver or Green Globes two globe standard.

B. For state public bodies, an exemption from the design and construction standards required by subsection A may be granted by the Director of the Department only upon a finding of special circumstances that make construction to the standards impracticable.

C. For local public bodies, an exemption from the design and construction standards required by subsection A may be granted by the local governing body of the locality or school board when circumstances such as marketplace constraints make construction to the standards unreasonable.

2. That the provisions of this act shall not apply to local public bodies and school boards until July 1, 2013.
