WHEREAS, Brookville High School defeated James Monroe High School, 34 - 33, and the victory for the Bees was all the sweeter because the team had twice before played James Monroe High School for state bragging rights, in 1996 and 2008, losing both times; and

WHEREAS, the tenacious and disciplined Bees did not give up, converting two fourth-down plays during the game-winning drive; one of those efforts was a daring effort on fourth-and-9, which yielded a 14-yard gain and the first down, and the drive then culminated in a 28-yard field goal with 35 seconds remaining; and

WHEREAS, the game, which was played nearby at Liberty University's Williams Stadium, drew a large and supportive crowd; the Brookville High School fans were jubilant about the victory, which gave the Bees a perfect 14 - 0 record for the season; and

WHEREAS, momentum and drive even came from the sideline as defensive tackle Korren Kirven, who did not play because of a broken ankle, constantly exhorted the Bees to keep focused, reminding them early on that the team's commanding lead in the first quarter was no reason to relax; and

WHEREAS, the entire Brookville High School team contributed to the victory; also contributing to the team's championship play were the tireless efforts of the coaching staff and the support of the entire school community; and
