Summary of Proposed Legislation:

The proposal adds several sections to the Code of Virginia relating to casino gaming. In addition to creating the Virginia Casino Gaming Commission and setting forth administrative procedures and requirements, the proposal establishes new offenses relating to casino gaming in Virginia. Under the proposed § 59.1-581, any person under the age of 21 who wagers on casino gaming or anyone who accepts a wager from a person under the age of 21 would be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. The proposed § 59.1-579 prohibits numerous activities relating to casino gaming, including cheating at gaming and operating casino gaming where wagering is used or to be used without a license issued by the Casino Gaming Commission. A violation of § 59.1-579 would be a Class 6 felony.

The proposal also defines several offenses that would be punishable as Class 4 felonies, including making a false statement on an application for a casino gaming operator's license or supplier's permit and fraudulent use of a credential license or permit issued by the Casino Gaming Commission. Any person who conspires, confederates, or combines with another to commit any felony prohibited under the proposed Chapter 50 of Title 59.1 would be guilty of a Class 4 felony.

Under § 18.2-328, operating an illegal gambling enterprise is a Class 6 felony. An operator who engages in an illegal gambling operation that is in continuous operation for more than 30 days or who has a gross revenue of $2,000 or more in a single day is subject to imprisonment for one to ten years. The proposed § 18.2-334.5 clarifies that participating in any casino gaming operation that is conducted in accordance with the proposed Chapter 50 of Title 59.1 would not be prohibited under § 18.2-328.

Analysis:

According to the Circuit Court Automated Information System (CAIS) for fiscal year (FY) 2010 and FY2011, four offenders were convicted of a felony under § 18.2-328 for operating an illegal gambling operation. The gambling offense was the primary, or most serious, offense in all of the cases. While three of these offenders did not receive an active term of incarceration to serve after sentencing, one offender was sentenced to a local-responsible (jail) term of one month.

Existing data are insufficient to determine the number of felony convictions that may occur as the result of the proposal.

Impact of Proposed Legislation:

State adult correctional facilities. Because it creates new felony offenses, the proposal may increase the future state-responsible (prison) bed space needs of the Commonwealth. However, existing databases do not provide sufficient detail to estimate the number of new felony convictions likely to result from enactment of the proposal. The magnitude of the impact on prison beds cannot be quantified.

Local adult correctional facilities. The proposal may also increase the local-responsible (jail) bed space needs of the Commonwealth. However, the magnitude of the impact cannot be determined.

Adult community corrections programs. Because the proposal could result in additional felony convictions and subsequent supervision requirements for an additional number of offenders, the proposal may increase the need for adult community corrections resources. Since the number of cases that may be affected cannot be determined, the potential impact on community corrections resources cannot be quantified.

Virginia's sentencing guidelines. Because the proposal defines new felony offenses, convictions under the proposed sections of the Code would not be covered by the sentencing guidelines as the primary, or most serious, offense. Such a conviction, however, could augment the guidelines recommendation if the most serious offense at sentencing is covered by the guidelines. No adjustment to the guidelines is necessary under the proposal.

Juvenile correctional centers. According to the Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ), the impact of the proposal on juvenile correctional center (JCC) bed space needs cannot be determined.

Juvenile detention facilities. The Department of Juvenile Justice reports that the proposal's impact on the bed space needs of juvenile detention facilities cannot be determined.

Pursuant to § 30-19.1:4, the estimated amount of the necessary appropriation cannot be determined for periods of imprisonment in state adult correctional facilities; therefore, Chapter 3 of the Acts of Assembly of 2012, Special Session I, requires the Virginia Criminal Sentencing Commission to assign a minimum fiscal impact of $50,000.

Pursuant to § 30-19.1:4, the estimated amount of the necessary appropriation cannot be determined for periods of commitment to the custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice.
