WHEREAS, Alice Tousignant served as the executive director of Virginia Supportive Housing for the past 16 years and retired from this position on December 31, 2013; and

WHEREAS, under Alice Tousignant's leadership, Virginia Supportive Housing (VSH) has become a national model for how to solve the challenge of chronic homelessness, developing a regional single room occupancy model in Hampton Roads that was the first of its kind; and

WHEREAS, Alice Tousignant and VSH have been instrumental in proving that the shift away from temporary shelter of homeless adults to providing permanent, supportive housing is a lasting solution for homelessness; 98 percent of the residents in VSH properties never return to the streets; and

WHEREAS, Alice Tousignant has guided VSH through remarkable growth in the past decade; and

WHEREAS, when Alice Tousignant joined the organization in 1997, VSH owned two buildings in Richmond that housed 86 formerly homeless individuals; today, VSH is providing homes to more than 1,000 chronically homeless adults in Richmond, Hampton Roads, and Charlottesville, the majority of whom suffer from mental illness and physical disabilities; and
