3. Committee: Rules

4. Title: State and Local Government Conflict of Interests Act and General Assembly Conflicts of Interests.

5. Summary: Establishes the Virginia Conflict of Interest and Ethics Advisory Council composed of 14 members: four appointments each by the Speaker of the House of Delegates, Senate Committee on Rules, and Governor; one designee of the Attorney General and one representative of the Virginia Association of Counties and Virginia Municipal League. The Council will elect its chairman and vice-chairman and choose its executive director. The Council will review and post online the disclosure forms filed by lobbyists and persons subject to the conflict of interest acts and provide formal opinions and informal advice, education, and training. The bill requires the filing of the disclosure forms twice a year. It provides that the Division of Legislative Services will staff the Council, and the House and Senate Clerks will transmit complaints of conflict law violations to the ethics advisory panels of the House of Delegates and Senate. The bill prohibits tangible gifts with a value of more than $250 from lobbyists to certain executive officers and employees and to legislators. A number of disclosure provision thresholds are reduced from $10,000 to $5,000 and gifts to immediate family members are made subject to disclosure.

6. Budget Amendment Necessary: See Item 8.

7. Fiscal Impact Estimates: See Item 8.

8. Fiscal Implications: This bill creates the Virginia Conflict of Interest and Ethics Advisory Council to help educate applicable parties and facilitate compliance with the State and Local Government Conflict of Interests Act. The new advisory council will have a membership of 14 and will employ an executive director. Additional staff support will be provided by the Division of Legislative Services. The costs associated with the new council are expected to exceed the costs of the Freedom of Information Advisory Council which has a similar educational mission. The annual budget for the Freedom of Information Advisory Council in the introduced budget bill is $190,000. However, in addition to an educational role, the new council will be required to collect and review disclosure submissions as well as establish and maintain a database to provide public access to this information. The costs of creating and maintaining a publicly searchable database are not known at this time. The costs associated with processing and reviewing disclosure form submissions could in part, be covered by the fact that the bill removes conflict of interest functions from the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth (SOC). This would potentially allow for the transfer of approximately $70,000 currently budgeted for this purpose in the SOC. This $70,000 currently covers two FTE positions in the SOC.

In addition to the potential costs enumerated above, the proposed bill could impact local and regional jails and the State Compensation Board. Although insufficient data exists to determine the fiscal impact due to this proposal, the proposed legislation could result in an increase in the jail population since Class 1 misdemeanor outcomes result in sentences of up to 12 months in jail (and a fine up to $2,500). Any increase in jail population will increase costs to the state. The Commonwealth presently pays the localities $4.00 a day for each misdemeanant or otherwise local responsible prisoner held in a jail. It also funds most of the jails' operating costs, e.g. correctional officers. The state's share of these costs on per prisoner, per day basis varies from locality to locality. However, according to the Compensation Board's FY2012 Jail Cost Report (November 1, 2013), the estimated total state support for local and regional jails averaged $30.06 per state inmate, per day in FY 2012.

The changes to disclosure rules set-out in this bill are not expected to create a significant cost to state agencies or other political subdivisions.

9. Specific Agency or Political Subdivisions Affected: All state agencies and political subdivisions.

10. Technical Amendment Necessary: No.

11. Other Comments: None.
