3. Committee: Passed Both Houses

4. Title: Government Data Collection and Dissemination Practices Act; limitations on us of information.

5. Summary: The legislation limits the ability of law-enforcement and regulatory agencies to use any surveillance technology, including license plate readers, to collect and maintain personal information on individuals and organizations where a warrant has not been issued and there is no reasonable suspicion of criminal activity by the individual or organization.

Information collected by a license plate reader without a warrant shall only be retained for seven days and shall only be used for the investigation of a crime or a report of a missing person. After seven days such collected information must be purged unless it is being utilized in an ongoing investigation. The legislation also adds to the definition of "personal information" vehicle license plate numbers and information that affords a basis for inferring an individual's presence at any place.

6. Budget Amendment Necessary: No.

7. Fiscal Impact Estimates: Final. See Item 8.

8. Fiscal Implications: The legislation has no material impact on state law enforcement and regulatory entities.

9. Specific Agency or Political Subdivisions Affected: Department of State Police, state and local law enforcement and regulatory agencies.

10. Technical Amendment Necessary: None.

11. Other Comments: Identical to SB965.
