"Cost," as applied to any project financed under the provisions of this chapter, means the total of all costs incurred as reasonable and necessary for carrying out all works and undertakings necessary or incident to the accomplishment of any project.

If an energy efficiency improvement is part of a larger renovation, construction, upgrade, or other similar measure, then the project, for purposes of determining such costs and savings, and for obtaining any loan from the Fund, shall be limited to the energy efficiency improvements and necessary changes to implement them.
