This bill would increase to $5,000 the maximum amount that a governing body of a county or city may authorize its treasurer to refund for taxes paid as a result of an erroneous tax assessment.

Under current law, $2,500 is the maximum amount that a governing body of a locality may authorize its treasurer to approve for a refund resulting from an erroneous tax assessment. If the refund is over that amount, the governing body must direct the treasurer of the county, city or town to refund the excess to the specific taxpayer, with interest if authorized.

If enacted during the 2020 session of the General Assembly, this bill would become effective July 1, 2020.

Current Law

Under current law, if a commissioner of the revenue, or other assessing official is satisfied that they have erroneously assessed any local tax, the commissioner can correct such assessment.

If the assessment has been paid, the governing body of the county or city directs the treasurer to refund the excess to the taxpayer, with interest upon the certificate of the commissioner with the consent of the town, city or county attorney, or the attorney for the Commonwealth, that such assessment was erroneous. However, the governing body of the county, city or town may authorize the treasurer to approve and issue any refund up to $2,500 as a result of an erroneous assessment.

Proposal

This bill would increase to $5,000 the maximum amount that a governing body of a county city, or town may authorize its treasurer to refund for taxes paid as a result of an erroneous tax assessment.

If enacted during the 2020 session of the General Assembly, this bill would be effective July 1, 2020.
