Virginia Low-Income Tax Credits

Virginia allows an individual to claim either a nonrefundable credit equal to 20 percent of the federal EITC that was claimed for the taxable year, a refundable credit equal to 15 percent of the federal EITC, or the Tax Credit for Low-Income Individuals.

- Virginia allows a nonrefundable individual income tax credit equal to 20 percent of the federal EITC claimed by an individual for the taxable year. The credit is for any individual or married persons that are eligible for the federal EITC for the taxable year and claimed such a credit.
- Virginia allows a refundable individual income tax credit equal to 15 percent of the federal EITC claimed by an individual for the taxable year. The credit is for any individual or married persons that are eligible for the federal EITC for the taxable year and claimed such a credit.
- The Tax Credit for Low-Income Individuals is a nonrefundable individual income tax credit equal to $300 each for the individual, the individual's spouse, and any person claimed as a dependent on such individual's or married person's income tax return for the taxable year.

No household may claim more than one of the credits in the same taxable year. For purposes of these credits, "household" means an individual or married persons, regardless of whether such married persons file joint or separate Virginia individual income tax returns.

Federal Earned Income Tax Credit

The federal EITC is a refundable tax credit for eligible individuals who have earned income in a taxable year that is below certain threshold amounts. The amount of the federal EITC is based on the presence and number of qualifying children in the worker's family, as well as the amount of the worker's federal adjusted gross income ("AGI") and earned income. For purposes of the federal EITC, earned income includes any wages, salaries, tips, and other employee compensation includible in an individual's gross income, plus the individual's net earnings from self-employment without regard to the federal deduction for self-employment taxes. To qualify for the federal EITC for Taxable Year 2022, an individual's AGI and earned income must be less than:

- $53,057 ($59,187 for married filing jointly) if they have three or more qualifying children;

- $49,399 ($55,529 for married filing jointly) if they have two qualifying children;
- $43,492 ($46,622 for married filing jointly) if they have one qualifying child; or
- $16,480 ($22,610 for married filing jointly) if they do not have a qualifying child

The maximum federal EITC for Taxable Year 2022 is $6,935 for an individual with three or more qualifying children, $6,164 for an individual with two qualifying children, $3,733 for an individual with one qualifying child, and $560 for an individual with no qualifying children.

Department of Social Services Reporting Requirement

DSS is required to provide notice regarding the availability of the federal EITC and Virginia's nonrefundable individual income tax credit equal to 20 percent of the federal EITC to certain individuals. Such individuals include all recipients of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families ("TANF"), food stamps, or medical assistance who had earned income in the prior taxable year based on information available through the Virginia Employment Commission, and according to information made available by the Department, either did not file federal or state income taxes or filed taxes but did not claim the federal or state EITC.

Other States

Twenty-eight states (including Virginia) and the District of Columbia allow individuals to claim an EITC equal to a certain percentage of the federal EITC. There are also several localities (such as New York City, Montgomery County, Maryland, and San Francisco) that have credit programs based on EITC. Twenty-three states (California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin) and the District of Columbia allow such credits to be refundable. Four states (Delaware, Hawaii, Ohio, and South Carolina) do not allow such credit to be refunded.

Proposed Legislation

This bill would allow any individual or married couple to claim a refundable individual income tax credit equal to 20 percent of the federal EITC claimed by such individual or married couple for the same taxable year. Under current law, Virginia allows a nonrefundable tax credit equal to 20 percent of the federal EITC or a refundable tax credit equal to 15 percent of the federal EITC.

This bill would also require DSS to provide notice regarding the availability of the new refundable credit to certain recipients of TANF, food stamps, or medical assistance as part of its existing notification requirement.

This bill would be effective for taxable years beginning on and after January 1, 2023.
