Patrons—Grayson, Cunningham, Jones, D.C., Mayer, Reid, Rhodes and Woodrum; Senators: Benedetti, Lambert, Marsh and Stosch

Referred to Committee on General Laws

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia:1. That § 2.1-342 of the Code of Virginia is amended and reenacted as follows:

§ 2.1-342. Official records to be open to inspection; procedure for requesting records and responding to request; charges; exceptions to application of chapter.

A. Except as otherwise specifically provided by law, all official records shall be open to inspection and copying by any citizens of this Commonwealth during the regular office hours of the custodian of such records. Access to such records shall not be denied to citizens of this Commonwealth, representatives of newspapers and magazines with circulation in this Commonwealth, and representatives of radio and television stations broadcasting in or into this Commonwealth. The custodian of such records shall take all necessary precautions for their preservation and safekeeping. Any public body covered under the provisions of this chapter shall make an initial response to citizens requesting records open to inspection within five work days after the receipt of the request by the public body which is the custodian of the requested records. Such citizen request shall designate the requested records with reasonable specificity. A specific reference to this chapter by the requesting citizen in his request shall not be necessary to invoke the provisions of this chapter and the time limits for response by the public body. The response by the public body within such five work days shall be one of the following responses:

1. The requested records shall be provided to the requesting citizen.

2. If the public body determines that an exemption applies to all of the requested records, it may refuse to release such records and provide to the requesting citizen a written explanation as to why the records are not available with the explanation making specific reference to the applicable Code sections which make the requested records exempt.

3. If the public body determines that an exemption applies to a portion of the requested records, it may delete or excise that portion of the records to which an exemption applies, disclose the remainder of the requested records and provide to the requesting citizen a written explanation as to why these portions of the record are not available to the requesting citizen with the explanation making specific reference to the applicable Code sections which make that portion of the requested records exempt. Any reasonably segregable portion of an official record shall be provided to any person requesting the record after the deletion of the exempt portion.

4. If the public body determines that it is practically impossible to provide the requested records or to determine whether they are available within the five-work-day period, the public body shall so inform the requesting citizen and shall have an additional seven work days in which to provide one of the three preceding responses.

Nothing in this section shall prohibit any public body from petitioning the appropriate court for additional time to respond to a request for records when the request is for an extraordinary volume of records and a response by the public body within the time required by this chapter will prevent the public body from meeting its operational responsibilities. Before proceeding with this petition, however, the public body shall make reasonable efforts to reach an agreement with the requester concerning the production of the records requested.

The public body may make reasonable charges for the copying, search time and computer time expended in the supplying of such records; however, such charges shall not exceed the actual cost to the public body in supplying such records, except that the public body may charge, on a pro rata per acre basis, for the cost of creating topographical maps developed by the public body, for such maps or portions thereof, which encompass a contiguous area greater than fifty acres. Such charges for the supplying of requested records shall be estimated in advance at the request of the citizen. The public body may require the advance payment of charges which are subject to advance determination.

In any case where a public body determines in advance that search and copying charges for producing the requested documents are likely to exceed $200, the public body may, before continuing to process the request, require the citizen requesting the information to agree to payment of an amount not

60 to exceed the advance determination by five percent. The period within which the public body must 61 respond under this section shall be tolled for the amount of time that elapses between notice of the 62 advance determination and the response of the citizen requesting the information.

63 Official records maintained by a public body on a computer or other electronic data processing
64 system which are available to the public under the provisions of this chapter shall be made reasonably 65 accessible to the public at reasonable cost.

66 Public bodies shall not be required to create or prepare a particular requested record if it does not 67 already exist. Public bodies may, but shall not be required to, abstract or summarize information from 68 official records or convert an official record available in one form into another form at the request of 69 the citizen. The public body shall make reasonable efforts to reach an agreement with the requester 70 concerning the production of the records requested.

71 Failure to make any response to a request for records shall be a violation of this chapter and deemed 72 a denial of the request.

73 B. The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by 74 the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

75 1. Memoranda, correspondence, evidence and complaints related to criminal investigations; adult 76 arrestee photographs when necessary to avoid jeopardizing an investigation in felony cases [until such 77 time as the release of such photograph will no longer jeopardize the investigation] ; reports submitted
78 to the state and local police, to investigators authorized pursuant to § 53.1-16 and to the campus police
79 departments of public institutions of higher education as established by Chapter 17 (§ 23-232 et seq.) of 80 Title 23 in confidence; portions of records of local government crime commissions that would identify 81 individuals providing information about crimes or criminal activities under a promise of anonymity;
82 records of local police departments relating to neighborhood watch programs that include the names, 83 addresses, and operating schedules of individual participants in the program that are provided to such 84 departments under a promise of confidentiality; and all records of persons imprisoned in penal 85 institutions in this Commonwealth provided such records relate to the imprisonment. Information in the 86 custody of law-enforcement officials relative to the identity of any individual other than a juvenile who 87 is arrested and charged, and the status of the charge or arrest, shall not be excluded from the provisions
88 of this chapter.

89 Criminal incident information relating to felony offenses shall not be excluded from the provisions of 90 this chapter; however, where the release of criminal incident information is likely to jeopardize an 91 ongoing criminal investigation or the safety of an individual, cause a suspect to flee or evade detection,
92 or result in the destruction of evidence, such information may be withheld until the above-referenced 93 damage is no longer likely to occur from release of the information.

94 2. Confidential records of all investigations of applications for licenses and all licensees made by or 95 submitted to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board or the State Lottery Department.

96 3. State income, business, and estate tax returns, personal property tax returns, scholastic records and

98 shall not be denied to the person who is the subject thereof, and medical and mental records, except that 99 such records can be personally reviewed by the subject person or a physician of the subject person's 100 choice; however, the subject person's mental records may not be personally reviewed by such person
101 when the subject person's treating physician has made a part of such person's records a written statement
102 that in his opinion a review of such records by the subject person would be injurious to the subject 103 person's physical or mental health or well-being.

104 Where the person who is the subject of medical records is confined in a state or local correctional 105 facility, the administrator or chief medical officer of such facility may assert such confined person's right 106 of access to the medical records if the administrator or chief medical officer has reasonable cause to 107 believe that such confined person has an infectious disease or other medical condition from which other 108 persons so confined need to be protected. Medical records shall be reviewed only and shall not be 109 copied by such administrator or chief medical officer. The information in the medical records of a 110 person so confined shall continue to be confidential and shall not be disclosed to any person except the 111 subject by the administrator or chief medical officer of the facility or except as provided by law.

112 For the purposes of this chapter such statistical summaries of incidents and statistical data concerning 113 patient abuse as may be compiled by the Commissioner of the Department of Mental Health, Mental 114 Retardation and Substance Abuse Services shall be open to inspection and releasable as provided in 115 subsection A of this section. No such summaries or data shall include any patient-identifying 116 information. Where the person who is the subject of scholastic or medical and mental records is under 117 the age of eighteen, his right of access may be asserted only by his guardian or his parent, including a 118 noncustodial parent, unless such parent's parental rights have been terminated or a court of competent 119 jurisdiction has restricted or denied such access. In instances where the person who is the subject thereof 120 is an emancipated minor or a student in a state-supported institution of higher education, such right of 121 access may be asserted by the subject person.

122 4. Memoranda, working papers and correspondence held or requested by members of the General
123 Assembly or by the office of the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General or the mayor or 124 other chief executive officer of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth or the president or other 125 chief executive officer of any state-supported institution of higher education. This exclusion shall not 126 apply to memoranda, studies or other papers held or requested by the mayor or other chief executive

142 or certificate issued by any public body.

143 As used in this subdivision 9, "test or examination" shall include (i) any scoring key for any such 144 test or examination, and (ii) any other document which would jeopardize the security of such test or 145 examination. Nothing contained in this subdivision 9 shall prohibit the release of test scores or results as 146 provided by law, or limit access to individual records as is provided by law. However, the subject of 147 such employment tests shall be entitled to review and inspect all documents relative to his performance 148 on such employment tests.

149 When, in the reasonable opinion of such public body, any such test or examination no longer has any 150 potential for future use, and the security of future tests or examinations will not be jeopardized, such test
151 or examination shall be made available to the public. However, minimum competency tests administered
152 to public school children shall be made available to the public contemporaneously with statewide release
153 of the scores of those taking such tests, but in no event shall such tests be made available to the public 154 later than six months after the administration of such tests.

156 the Department of Health Professions or any board in that department on individual licensees or
