1999 SESSION

INTRODUCED

	982970198
1	HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 34
2 3	Offered January 15, 1998
4	Establishing a joint subcommittee to study the emergency medical services system in the Commonwealth.
5 6 7	Patrons—Davies, Harris and Orrock; Senator: Houck
, 8 9	Referred to Committee on Rules
10 11	WHEREAS, the Commonwealth's emergency medical services (EMS) system is recognized as one of the best in the nation; and
12 13	WHEREAS, although certain densely populated areas have switched to paid or municipally operated emergency medical services, the majority of rural areas and many urban areas are still served primarily
14 15	by volunteer squads; and WHEREAS although there have been several studies over the last six years to address the problems
15 16	WHEREAS, although there have been several studies over the last six years to address the problems in Virginia's emergency medical services, debate concerning staffing, education, and the rigor and
17	frequency of and access to training, the use of paid rather than volunteer emergency medical services
18	personnel, the operation of private ambulance services, and the State Medical Air Evacuation
19 20	(MEDIVAC) system are among the issues and problems which have not been resolved to the satisfaction of the emergency medical services community; and
20 21	WHEREAS, there continues to be concern about the governance of the emergency medical services
22	system, evidenced by the growing friction between local emergency medical services offices, the
23	volunteer system, and the State Office of Emergency Medical Services; and
24 25	WHEREAS, high morale, good communications, reasonable compromise, and strong cooperation are essential to maintaining the quality and efficiency of Virginia's emergency medical services system; and
23 26	WHEREAS, although legislation has been enacted to ameliorate many of the problems previously
27	noted, further study is warranted to address lingering issues which, left unattended, would compromise
28	the Commonwealth's excellent and vital statewide emergency medical services system; now, therefore,
29 30	be it PESOLVED by the House of Delegates, the Senete concurring. That a joint subcommittee ha
30 31	RESOLVED by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, That a joint subcommittee be established to study the emergency medical services system in the Commonwealth. The joint
32	subcommittee shall be composed of nine members as follows: five members of the House of Delegates,
33	to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and four members of the Senate, to be appointed by the
34 25	Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections.
35 36	In conducting its study, the joint subcommittee shall (i) review the governing structure of the emergency medical services system with the view toward determining the basis for the growing friction
37	between the local emergency medical services offices, the volunteer system, and the State Emergency
38	Medical Services Office, and offer methods to resolve conflicts within and among the various sectors of
39 40	the EMS system; (ii) identify the continuing issues and problems concerning the education and training
40 41	of emergency medical services personnel; (iii) identify the issues surrounding the controversy pertaining to paid and volunteer emergency medical service personnel; (iv) examine issues related to private
42	ambulance services, including access to and the cost and quality of such services, and the sufficiency of
43	existing regulation of private ambulance services to ensure the public's health, safety, and welfare; (v)
44 45	determine the adequacy of emergency medical services throughout the Commonwealth, including the status and needs of the State MEDIVAC System specifically the issues identified and study objectives
45 46	status and needs of the State MEDIVAC System, specifically the issues identified and study objectives proposed by the Joint Subcommittee Studying Certain Emergency Medical Services Training and
47	Governance Issues in HJR 636 (1997); and (vi) consider such related issues as the joint subcommittee
48	may deem necessary to ensure the viability of the statewide EMS system.
49 50	The direct costs of this study shall not exceed $ 6,750.
50 51	The Division of Legislative Services shall provide staff support for the study. All agencies of the Commonwealth shall provide assistance to the joint subcommittee, upon request.
52	The joint subcommittee shall complete its work in time to submit its findings and recommendations
53	to the Governor and the 1999 Session of the General Assembly as provided in the procedures of the
54	Division of Legislative Automated Systems for the processing of legislative documents.
55 56	Implementation of this resolution is subject to subsequent approval and certification by the Joint Rules Committee. The Committee may withhold expenditures or delay the period for the conduct of the 50 57	study.
