HOUSE BILL NO. 2760

Offered January 17, 2003

A BILL to direct the Virginia Research and Technology Advisory Commission, in conjunction with the Secretaries of Technology, Commerce and Trade, and Education, to develop a comprehensive strategic plan for research and development in the Commonwealth.

Patron—O'Bannon

Referred to Committee on Science and Technology

Whereas, the Virginia Research and Technology Advisory Commission was established to advise the Governor on appropriate research and technology strategies for the Commonwealth with emphasis on policy recommendations that will enhance the global competitive advantage of both research institutions and technology-based commercial endeavors within the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, maximizing the amount of basic and applied federal research and development (R&D) and subsequent commercialization of related intellectual property would benefit the research institutions and technology-based commercial endeavors within the Commonwealth and industry-supported R&D at these institutions would provide unique educational opportunities and spur economic development; and

Whereas, a rigorous strategic planning process should lead to current and accurate information resources that support strategic decision-making and establish criteria to measure success; now, therefore,

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia:

1. § 1. The Virginia Research and Technology Advisory Commission (VRTAC), in conjunction with the Secretaries of Technology, Commerce and Trade, and Education, shall develop a comprehensive strategic plan for research and development in the Commonwealth. The strategy should consider the areas the federal government will emphasize within the next 5 years, the Commonwealth's R&D assets and capabilities, the current and future growth industries in the Commonwealth, and the means to strengthen the Commonwealth's position in global research and development competition. The Commission shall provide such strategic plan to the Governor and the General Assembly by November 30, 2003.

§ 2. The Innovative Technology Authority, Virginia Economic Development Partnership, and Department of Education shall provide staff support to the Commission.
