

Virginia Criminal Sentencing Commission

House Bill No. 1960 (Patron – Hargrove)

LD #: 07-8863320

Date: 12/15/2006

Topic: Punishment for Class 1 felony offenses

Fiscal Impact Summary:

- State Adult Correctional Facilities: 3 beds ($ 65,053)
- Local Adult Correctional Facilities: None ($0)
- Adult Community Corrections Programs: None ($0)

 Juvenile Correctional Centers: None ($0)
Juvenile Detention Facilities: None ($0)

Summary of Proposed Legislation:

The proposal amends numerous statutes in the Code of Virginia to eliminate the punishment of death for Class 1 felonies and to remove references to the punishment of death from related statutes. Under the proposed change, an offender convicted of a Class 1 felony must be sentenced to imprisonment for life and would be ineligible for parole, good conduct allowance, earned sentence credits and conditional release under § 53.1-40.01. The provisions of the proposal would apply to Class 1 felonies committed on or after July 1, 2007.

Currently, under § 18.2-10, an offender convicted of a Class 1 felony who was at least 18 years of age<sup>1</sup> at the time of the offense and is not found to be mentally retarded may be sentenced to either death or life imprisonment. Conspiracy to commit an offense punishable by death is a Class 3 felony (§ 18.2-22), while an attempt to commit such an offense is a Class 2 felony (§ 18.2-25).

Analysis:

According to the Department of Corrections (DOC), there were 19 Virginia inmates<sup>2</sup> serving under a death sentence as of November 30, 2006. Since January 1, 2004, five offenders have been received onto death row. DOC data indicate that inmates remain on death row for an average of 6.2 years prior to execution (based on the last 61 offenders who have been executed); however, the length of time spent on death row has been declining in recent years. For the last 20 inmates who have been executed, the average stay on death row was just over 5 years.

Impact of Proposed Legislation:

State adult correctional facilities. The proposed legislation will increase the bed space needs of the Commonwealth by eliminating the death penalty for crimes committed on or after July 1, 2007. Because death row inmates serve an average of more than five years before their execution, much of the increased needs will occur beyond the six-year window specified in § 30-19.1:4 for legislative impact statements. However, it is estimated that the proposal would result in the need for approximately three additional state-responsible (prison) beds by FY2013.

Estimated Ten Year Impact in	n State-Responsible (Prison) Beds
-------------------------------------	-----------------------------------

Local adult correctional facilities. The proposal will not affect local-responsible (jail) bed space needs.

Adult community corrections programs. The proposal will not affect adult community corrections programs.

Virginia's sentencing guidelines. Virginia's sentencing guidelines do not cover capital murder offenses defined in § 18.2-31. Attempted capital offenses are covered by the guidelines when there is an accompanying conviction for a crime with a maximum penalty of life imprisonment; in those situations, the attempted capital murder is an additional offense that augments the guidelines recommendation.

Juvenile correctional centers. According to the Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ), the proposal will not increase juvenile correctional center (JCC) bed space needs.

Juvenile detention facilities. The Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) reports that the proposal will not increase the bed space needs of juvenile detention facilities.

Pursuant to § 30-19.1:4, the estimated amount of the necessary appropriation is $65,053 for periods of imprisonment in state adult correctional facilities and is $0 for periods of commitment to the custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice.

Assumptions underlying the analysis include:

- 1. New cases representing state-responsible sentences were based on the admissions forecasts approved by the Secretary of Public Safety's Committee on Inmate Forecasting in August 2006.
- 2. The impact of the proposed legislation, which would be effective on July 1, 2007, is applied only to future prosecutions. The number of offenders affected by the proposal is estimated based on the average number of offenders receiving the death penalty each year.
- 3. The bed space impact was derived based on the length of time served on death row by inmates prior to execution (for the last 61 inmates who have been executed in Virginia).
- 4. Cost per prison bed was assumed to be $25,709 per year as provided by the Department of Planning and Budget to the Commission pursuant to § 30-19.1:4. Where the estimated bed space impact included a portion (or fraction) of a bed, a prorated cost was included in the estimated amount of necessary appropriation.
