4. Title: Use of mine voids.

5. Summary: This bill broadens the existing statutory provision for the owner(s) or lessee of a coal mineral estate or its successor, assign, sublessee, or affiliate so that he/they retain the rights to any coal remaining in place after the removal of surrounding coal, as well as the shell, container chamber, passage, space or void opened underground that was created by the removal of the coal. Accordingly, applications for a mining permit do not need to contain the name and address of the owner(s) of the shell, container chamber, passage or open spaces. The provisions of this bill do not affect contractual obligations entered into prior to July 1, 2012, that expressly prohibit the use of, or provide for the payment of compensation regarding, the use of any shell, container chamber, passage, space, or void opened underground that was created by the removal of coal. The provision has no effect on the determination of ownership rights in natural gas or coalbed methane.
