4. Title: Voluntary regulatory self-assessments by banks; privilege.

5. Summary: Voluntary regulatory self-assessments by banks; privilege. Creates a privilege for information generated from a voluntary regulatory self-assessment conducted by a bank or its holding company, affiliates, and subsidiaries. The privilege applies to any document prepared in connection with a voluntary, self-initiated internal assessment, audit, or review of a bank and its practices, policies, and procedures or the practices, policies, and procedures of the bank's service provider. The privilege makes a self-assessment report inadmissible in any legal or investigative action in any civil or administrative litigation, action, proceeding, or investigation. The privilege shall not apply if it is waived; if a bank discloses a self-assessment report to any third party if such third party is a bank regulator, is subject to an agreement or obligation to preserve the confidentiality of the report, or receives the self-assessment report from a bank regulator or person subject to an agreement or obligation of confidentiality; if it is determined that the privilege is being asserted for a fraudulent purpose or that the report was prepared to avoid disclosure of information in a proceeding that was underway at the time of its preparation, or it is found that a condition exists that demonstrates imminent and substantial harm to bank customers or consumers; or to any self-assessment report requested by a bank regulator.
