

14104384D

SENATE BILL NO. 150
FLOOR AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE
 (Proposed by Senator Stuart
 on January 29, 2014)

(Patron Prior to Substitute—Senator Stuart)

A BILL to amend the Code of Virginia by adding in Title 59.1 a chapter numbered 18.1, consisting of sections numbered 59.1-215.1 through 59.1-215.5, relating to bad faith assertions of patent infringement; penalties.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia:

1. That the Code of Virginia is amended by adding in Title 59.1 a chapter numbered 18.1, consisting of sections numbered 59.1-215.1 through 59.1-215.5, as follows:

CHAPTER 18.1.

BAD FAITH ASSERTIONS OF PATENT INFRINGEMENT.

§ 59.1-215.1. Definitions.

As used in this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning:

"Assertion of patent infringement" means (i) sending or delivering a demand letter to a target; (ii) threatening a target with litigation asserting, alleging, or claiming that the target has engaged in patent infringement; (iii) sending or delivering a demand letter to the customers of a target; or (iv) otherwise making claims or allegations, other than those made in litigation against a target, that a target has engaged in patent infringement or that a target should obtain a license to a patent in order to avoid litigation.

"Demand letter" means a letter, email, or other communication asserting, alleging, or claiming that the target has engaged in patent infringement, or that a target should obtain a license to a patent in order to avoid litigation, or any similar assertion.

"Patent infringement" means any conduct that constitutes infringement pursuant to applicable law, including 35 U.S.C. § 271, as amended.

"Target" means a person residing in, conducting substantial business in, or having its principal place of business in the Commonwealth and with respect to whom an assertion of patent infringement is made.

§ 59.1-215.2. Bad faith assertions of patent infringement.

A. A person shall not make, in bad faith, an assertion of patent infringement.

B. The following shall constitute indicia that a person's assertion of patent infringement was made in bad faith:

1. The demand letter does not contain:

a. The number of the patent that is asserted, alleged, or claimed to have been infringed; or

b. The name and address of the patent's owner or owners and assignee or assignees, if any.

2. The person sends a demand letter to a target without first making a reasonable effort under the circumstances to conduct an analysis comparing the claims in the patent to the target's products, services, and technology, or to identify specific areas in which the products, services, or technology are covered by the claims in the patent.

3. The demand letter does not identify specific areas in which the products, services, and technology are covered by the claims in the patent.

4. The person offers to license the patent for an amount that is not based on a reasonable estimation of the value of a license to the patent.

5. The person making an assertion of patent infringement acts in subjective bad faith, or a reasonable actor in the person's position would know or reasonably should know that such assertion is baseless.

6. The assertion of patent infringement is deceptive, or the person threatens legal action that cannot legally be taken or that is not intended to be taken.

7. The person or its subsidiaries or affiliates have previously filed or threatened to file one or more lawsuits based on the same or similar assertion of patent infringement, the person attempted to enforce the assertion of patent infringement in litigation, and a court found the assertion to be objectively baseless or imposed sanctions for the assertion.

8. The patent alleged to be infringed was not in force at the time the allegedly infringing conduct occurred, or the patent claims alleged to be infringed have previously been held to be invalid.

C. The following shall constitute indicia that a person's assertion of patent infringement was not made in bad faith, but the absence of such indicia shall not constitute evidence of bad faith:

1. The person engages in a reasonable effort under the circumstances to establish that the target has infringed the patent and to negotiate an appropriate remedy.

60 2. The person makes a substantial investment in the use of the patent or in the development,
61 production, or sale of a product or item covered by the patent.

62 3. The person has:

63 a. Demonstrated good faith in previous efforts to enforce the patent or a substantially similar patent;
64 or

65 b. Successfully enforced the patent, or a substantially similar patent, through litigation.

66 4. The person is an institution of higher education or a technology transfer office organization
67 owned by or affiliated with an institution of higher education.

68 D. The lists of indicia in this section are non-exclusive, and all indicia need not be present for a 69 finding of bad faith or good faith.

70 § 59.1-215.3. Bonding requirement.

71 In the event of litigation pursuant to § 59.1-215.4(D), upon motion by a target and a finding by a 72 court that a target has established a reasonable likelihood that a person has made, in bad faith, an
73 assertion of patent infringement in violation of this chapter, the court shall require the person to post a
74 bond in an amount equal to a good faith estimate of the target's costs to litigate the claim and amounts
75 reasonably likely to be recovered under § 59.1-215.4, conditioned upon payment of any amounts finally 76 determined to be due to the target. Such a bond shall continue in effect until the conclusion of the 77 subject litigation. A hearing shall be held if either party so requests. The court may waive the bond
78 requirement if it finds (i) the person has available assets equal to the amount of the proposed bond, (ii)
79 the bond will burden the person's ability to pursue activities unrelated to the assertion, acquisition,
80 litigation, or licensing of any patents, or (iii) for other good cause shown.

81 § 59.1-215.4. Enforcement; remedies; civil investigative demands; assurances of voluntary 82 compliance; restraining prohibited acts; individual actions for damages or penalty.

83 A. Whenever the Attorney General has reasonable cause to believe that any person has engaged in,
84 or is engaging in, or is about to engage in, any violation of this chapter, the Attorney General is 85 empowered to issue a civil investigative demand. The provisions of § 59.1-9.10 shall apply mutatis
86 mutandis to civil investigative demands issued pursuant to this section.

87 B. The Attorney General or any attorney for the Commonwealth may accept an assurance of 88 voluntary compliance with this chapter from any person subject to the provisions of this chapter. Any
89 such assurance shall be in writing and be filed with and be subject on petition to the approval of the 90 appropriate circuit court. Such assurance of voluntary compliance shall not be considered an admission
91 of guilt or a violation for any purpose. Such assurance of voluntary compliance may at any time be 92 reopened by the Attorney General or the attorney for the Commonwealth for additional orders or
93 decrees to enforce the assurance of voluntary compliance. When an assurance is presented to the circuit
94 court for approval, the Attorney General or the attorney for the Commonwealth shall file, in the form of 95 a complaint, the allegations that form the basis for the entry of the assurance. The assurance may
96 provide by its terms for any relief that an appropriate circuit court could grant, including but not
97 limited to arbitration of disputes between a person subject to the provisions of this chapter and any
98 targets, investigative expenses, civil penalties, and costs, provided, however, that nothing in this chapter
99 shall be construed to authorize or require the Commonwealth, the Attorney General, or any attorney for 100 the Commonwealth to participate in arbitration of violations under this section.

101 C. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the Attorney General or any attorney
102 for the Commonwealth may cause an action to be brought in the appropriate circuit court in the name
103 of the Commonwealth to enjoin any violation of this chapter. The circuit court having jurisdiction may 104 enjoin such violations notwithstanding the existence of an adequate remedy at law. In any action under 105 this section, it shall not be necessary that damages be proved. Unless the Attorney General or the 106 attorney for the Commonwealth determines that a person subject to the provisions of this chapter
107 intends to depart from the Commonwealth or to remove his property from the Commonwealth, or to 108 conceal himself or his property within the Commonwealth, or on a reasonable determination that 109 irreparable harm may occur if immediate action is not taken, the Attorney General or the attorney for 110 the Commonwealth shall, before initiating any legal proceedings as provided in this section, give notice
111 in writing that such proceedings are contemplated and allow such person a reasonable opportunity to 112 show that a violation did not occur or execute an assurance of voluntary compliance as provided in 113 subsection B. The circuit courts are authorized to issue temporary or permanent injunctions to restrain 114 and prevent violations of this chapter. The circuit court also may award to the Commonwealth a civil 115 penalty of not more than $2,500 for each violation, reasonable expenses incurred in investigating and 116 preparing the case, and attorneys' fees.

117 D. Any target of conduct involving assertions of patent infringement that suffers loss as the result of 118 a violation of this chapter, or any other person aggrieved by a violation of this chapter, shall be entitled 119 to initiate an action to enjoin such violation and to recover damages. The trier of fact may, in its 120 discretion, award damages up to an amount not exceeding three times the actual damages sustained or 121 $50,000, whichever is greater. In addition to any equitable relief or damages awarded, such target or 122 other person also may be awarded reasonable attorneys' fees and court costs.

123 E. Any person outside the Commonwealth asserting patent infringement to a target shall be deemed 124 to be transacting business within the Commonwealth within the meaning of subdivision A 1 of 125 § 8.01-328.1 and shall thereby be subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Commonwealth.
126 F. Nothing in this chapter authorizes the courts of the Commonwealth, the Attorney General, or any 127 attorney for the Commonwealth to exercise jurisdiction over a claim for relief arising under an Act of 128 Congress relating to patents.
129 § 59.1-215.5. Severability.
130 If any section, subsection, sentence, part, or application of this chapter is adjudged by any court of 131 competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate any other
132 section, subsection, sentence, part, or application but shall be confined in its operation to the section,
133 subsection, sentence, part, or application directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment
134 shall have been rendered.