8. Fiscal Implications: As stand-alone legislation, the Department of Elections (ELECT) considers implementation of this bill as “routine,” and does not require additional funding. The agency will review all electoral legislation likely to be enacted prior to the passage by each house. If the aggregate number of “routine” bills likely to pass either house is unusually large, it is possible the agency will require additional resources. If so, ELECT will identify the costs at that time. Therefore, this impact can be absorbed within existing agency resources.

Additional costs that would be absorbed by the agency would include updating instructions and guidance documents to include translation, if needed, changes to the voter registration system, changes to web materials, printing and distribution of forms, additional support for staff to research Code sections and update forms impacted by the legislation, and training to assure officers of election and voters are aware of any new requirements.

9. Specific Agency or Political Subdivisions Affected: Department of Elections and localities

10. Technical Amendment Necessary: None
