WHEREAS, with its unique natural and historical setting, the Commonwealth is an extremely desirable vacation destination for more than half the year, with the shoulder season and off-season tourism industry expanding as convention and conference facilities continue to grow; and

WHEREAS, off-season growth is substantially limited to areas within an easy drive or a direct flight from a mega-region airport, and without such an airport Greater Hampton Roads is missing opportunities to host lucrative meetings and conventions that fill hotels and restaurants and provide high-value, low-impact tourism tax dollars; and

WHEREAS, in evaluating host sites, event planners look for ease of access and a location to which and from which the majority of attendees can fly directly, reducing both cost and inconvenience while increasing participation, and as factors in such evaluations, the limited number of flights currently serving local Hampton Roads airports weighs heavily against the area's attractions; and

WHEREAS, local Hampton Roads airports currently provide convenience in terms of proximity, yet such advantage ends at the terminal gate as the majority of small regional jets require at least one connection and have available very limited luggage space with increased fares; and

WHEREAS, failure to evaluate the long-term travel needs of the mega-region would irretrievably relegate Greater Hampton Roads and the future generations who live and work in the region to permanent status as a secondary market; now, therefore, be it
