8. Fiscal Implications:

Virginia Information Technologies Agency (VITA): VITA currently conducts a limited review of Requests for Proposals and proposed contracts. This bill will require this service to be expanded. Additionally, at this time VITA has approximately 60 state contracts that would meet the high-risk definition provided; this figure does not include the Infrastructure Services contracts that replaced the services provided by Northrop Grumman. To comply with this legislation's requirements, VITA would have to add management of these additional 60 high-risk-contracts as well as provide training to agencies on the establishment and management of high-risk IT contracts. To accomplish this VITA would need 6 additional personnel to implement the aforementioned. Two additional FTE would be needed for training purposes. VITA would also require four additional contract specialists for researching, updating and reviewing terms and conditions for the 60 IT contracts, and to serve as a resource for agencies tasked with managing their own high-risk IT contracts.

This constitutes 6 incremental personnel at an estimated cost of $731,699/year to meet the legislation's goals. Further, VITA also will need consultants and resources to establish the initial processes and systems, with an estimated cost of $500,000 spread over FY20 and FY21. These costs cannot be supported by VITA's internal service funds and, therefore, must be supported by general funds.

Department of General Services (DGS): To implement the requirements DGS/Division of Purchases and Supply requires four additional positions and funding that totals to $487,799 each year to implement the requirements of the bill. The current Virginia Institute of Procurement Bureau staff are fully dedicated to the three professional certification programs, other annual procurement classes and the public procurement forum. There is no additional capacity for the existing staff to develop and deliver the bill's required contract administration training, which will need to be delivered to hundreds of procurement and contract administrators. The Policy and Review Bureau staff are fully dedicated to development and implementation of statewide procurement policies, providing consulting to state agencies, and compliance reviews for procurements conducted within agencies delegation and use central electronic procurement system. There is no additional capacity for existing staff to implement the bills required review high-risk solicitations and the resulting contract awards in a timely manner and not delay the procurement of needed goods, services, and construction by agencies under DGS purview.

Office of the Attorney General (OAG): At this time the fiscal impact for OAG is indeterminate.

9. Specific Agency or Political Subdivisions Affected: This bill impacts the Department of General Services (DGS), Virginia Information Technologies Agency (VITA), the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) and all state local public bodies subject to the Virginia Public Procurement Act (VPPA).

10. Technical Amendment Necessary: No
