b. A court order or official federal or state documentation showing that the student's parents or legal guardians are incarcerated;

c. A documented phone call with or written statement from an attorney, a guardian ad litem, a court-appointed special advocate or an individual with a similar title and role, or a representative of federal TRIO Programs or Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs (GEAR UP) that confirms the qualifying unusual circumstances and such individual's relationship to the student;

d. A documented determination of independence made by a financial aid administrator at another institution of higher education in the same or a prior award year;

e. A utility bill, a health insurance document, or another document that demonstrates a separation from the student's parents or legal guardians; or

f. A documented phone call with or written statement from a state, local, or tribal welfare agency; an independent living case worker who supports current and former foster youth with the transition to adulthood; or a public or private agency, facility, or program servicing the victims of abuse, neglect, assault, or violence that confirms the qualifying unusual circumstances; and

4. Explicitly include, in language understandable to a student enrolled at the institution, the option to apply for a dependency override based on:

a. The student's estrangement from his parent or legal guardian, including estrangement as result of the student's membership in or relationship to a class of individuals protected from discrimination pursuant to subdivision B 1 of § 2.2-3900;

b. Abuse of the student by his parent or legal guardian;

c. The incarceration of the student's parent or legal guardian; or

d. The student's inability to contact or locate his parent or legal guardian.

C. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the circumstances under which the financial aid office of any public institution of higher education may grant a dependency override.
